White skips around with his info, making it difficult to compile for just one person. Let me know what else I can help with!

Janet

The one I am interested in is Edward Jr. son of Edward and Ann Powell Coffey. You said that he is listed as the father of Elizabeth, first wife of Jesse Boone. He says that he is also the father of a Benjamin Coffey who we have signing bonds for marriages in Wilkes co NC.

My ancestor is Benjamin son of John & Jane Graves Coffey and I know this is not my Benjamin but there is another Benjamin that I have don't know much about. He is the descendent of Peter Coffey who came on a prison ship from England in early 1700s. This Benjamin might be too young to be the one signing bonds in Wilkes Co. though.

They are so hard to sort.

Thanks for the book info. I'm not sure that I want to pay this much for a book that really does not have anything I am not aware of and has so many errors.

I would love to get some of the cousins interested in researching Edward Coffey jr. One of the problems has been that we have not had any descendents of his as subscribers.

We need to change the "assumed" birth date for Marvel. If he was born in 1790, he would have married at age 13??
Bonnie

Hi there!

Please note my part of this email, at Sarah, daughter of Israel Boone's family, - my comments about her son, "Jessee," with the double "ee" that I got all excited about with "Hot dog!" etc. Sarah's son, Jessee, is correct, just not my reaction, as I am looking for a "Jessee Boone" of Wayne, KY.

The Marvel Coffee info all looks like great progress! I have to wait until next Tuesday, to start working with Meg in Osage, MO, regarding Marvel and Rachel. Not sure she has any more to offer, but am willing to see.

Do we have a Wayne, KY, contact or look-up?

Good morning Janet,

Thank you for all the good info! You're a sweetie.

You and I are thinking alike. I wrote to Bonnie yesterday that I believed Marvel was being confused with Asbury Madison. It could be that Marvel and A.M. were brothers, or close cousins.

I went through the census records last night looking for close Coffey neighbors from 1790 thru 1840. Unfortunately, some census takers thought it smart to alphabetize the people in his district. Consequently, all of the Coffee/y families end up together in some of those early census records.

My work, I fear, might have been more of an exercise in futility that in gaining any real knowledge. I'll share it with you for whatever value you can find in it. I do not want to distract you from your Boone research! However, I would appreciate it if you would let me know if you notice any factual errors.

Eli was in Wilkes Co., NC in 1790 and 1800. In 1790 it was just he and his wife. In 1800 they had one male child under 10 (born 1790-1800). Unless they were so unfortunate as to lose a number of children, I find it distracting that they had only one living child after 10 years of marriage.

In 1810 Wilkes Co. the same circumstances existed; e.g., one male child under 10; Eli was referred to as Eli, Esq. Marvel wasn't found.

In Burke Co. that year I found Smith, Elijah and Jesse. These all seem to be sons of Thomas who married 1) Eliz. Smith (Smith was her last son); 2) Sally Fields, mother of several including and Elijah and a Jesse. However, Elijah and Jesse are older than Smith in the 1810 census. There is an older male (45 and older) in the Smith household and, this could be Thomas, his father.

Down in Adair Co., KY in 1810 there was another Eli with one male child under 10 and three females under ten. There were a lot of Coffey/e families in Adair, and just looking at some of the names; it appears they are mostly names associated with Chesley, a line for which there is precious little info. I need to review these people again.

In 1813 Marvel married Rachel Boone in Burke Co., NC; bond Benjamin Coffey, witness Daniel Moore.

By 1820 - still in Adair Co., there was an Ely [sic] in Adair along with some of the same Coffey families as in the 1810 record. By this time he was older than 45 and had eight children in the household. Marvel was in Wayne Co., KY.

It is interesting to me to note that in 1820 Burke Co. I found Smith Coffey, along with others (Archilaus, Joseph, Reuben, and William). Thomas and second wife, Sarah Fields, has sons Reuben (married Polly Dowell) and went to Owen Co., IN; and William who married Anna Boone.

In 1828 we know that Marvel sold land in McMinn Co. to Thos. Hutchinson; proved by A.M. Coffey and Thos. Boone. We know too that Jesse Boone's will was also proved by Asbury and Jonathan Allin [sic] in 1828. Asbury also married Mary Bradford in McMinn Co. that year, Jonathan Allen officiated. Perhaps in connection with the Jesse Boone will, his marriage, or some other reason, Asbury was certified in 1828 to be 21 years old and of good moral character.

In 1830 the only Eli that I can find is in Russell Co., KY. Down in McMinn Co., TN there was Asbury M. and Marvel and there was a max of 10 years difference in their ages.

In 1840 both A.M. and Eli were in McMinn Co., TN. The only other Coffey in that county was James; Marvel appears to have moved on. I cannot find him anywhere in the census that year.

We think Marvel was in Maries Co., MO by 1848.

(Marvel bought land in Maries Co MO in 12/16/1838. BC)

By 1850 Asbury Madison was in Petis Co., MO. However, in 1856 there was an Asbury Coffee [sic] in Hempstead Co., AR who was named as one of the appraisers in an estray involving John T. Coffee, L. N. Kirk, and Joseph Bennight.

Marvel is dead before 1850.

We know Asbury Madison was deceased before 1860.

In addition to this Asbury and Marvel, there are various others with the same names scattered over VA, TN, NC, KY, etc. but most came later. I do not find many with the same name as contemporaries of the two we are interested in.

Interesting to note that Thomas, Jr., brother to Smith, named a son James Asbury. James, another brother to Smith named one of his sons Marvel, born c1820.

Bottom line: I think Marvel was a native of Burke and not a son of Eli, but perhaps a son of either Smith or Elijah or Jesse. If I had to bet money on which, I'd choose Smith. Problem with Smith tho is that most agree that he didn't marry until about 1802 and Marvel was born c1790, making him a better candidate as son of Thomas and second wife, Sarah Fields. There is a gap between Elijah and Sarah, Thomas/Sally's fifth child, of nearly five years. Marvel would fit there nicely.

My head still hurts. J

And, it's Marvel who I am really interested in. Who the heck was his father? And, was he Asbury (Asberry, etc) Marvel or just Marvel?!

There are so many books and genealogies available that position the children of Jesse and Sarah McMahan Boone either a parental generation head or behind where they really should be.

An example is the King version of the History of Maries Co., MO. The author names Johnathan Boone as the father of Jesse, Israel, John, Rachel (who married Marvel Coffey), and asserts that some unknown son went to CA, prospered in the gold rush, was robbed and injured and never returned to "this county." Seems if someone could remember those details, they could recall the kid's name!

In another part of the book King says that Smith Coffey was a Boone descendant through "his mother Anna." We don't know enough about Smith's mother's ancestry, but we do know that her name wasn't Anna and that she was a Smith, not a Boone. King also wrote that Anna who married William Coffey was a daughter of Israel Boone, Daniel's brother. I think it's pretty much established that Anna was a daughter of Jesse and Sarah McMahan.

My head hurts!

I love this stuff, but I'm way behind you and Bonnie in knowledge of the Coffeys, or anybody else for that matter!! I hope your head is OK after I send all of this!

From what I have seen from various sources, this Marvel and anybody named Asbury, are two separate people. I have seen Jesse Boone's will cause confusion. Marvel Coffey, husband of Rachel Boone is, of course, mentioned in the will. Asbury Madison Coffey (A.M. Coffey) is at the end of the will as a witness (he was the attny). I think the two men's names are confused as one, because it is assumed that the "A.M." incorrectly stands for (Asberry) Marvel, as witnessing his father-in-law's will.

I have also seen this King version of the History of Maries Co., MO, and think it has royally mixed up the families. That would be extremely easy to do with everyone named the same!!

Here is what I have:

Children of Israel Boone and Martha Farmer: (Martha's identity was recently proven and disclosed on the internet by the Boone Society, so I am safe here!)

A William Julian did live in Virginia City Co., VA at the times claimed by White. He became wealthy by transporting people from England to the colony. In 1636 he brought in 12 people and received 600 acres.

He was a Justice until Nov. 6, 1646 when the "Governor and Council released Mr. William Julian from all of his offices on account of his great age."
This Wm Julian came to VA in 1609 and by 1625 was in Elizabeth City, age 43. His will was dated Apr. 14, 1657 and died childless. His estate went to the children of his wife by her former marriage to Wm. Shipp.

From meeting notes of the county court, Shipp was a contemporary of Julian. The court convened at various homes and at least once, in Oct. 1645 they met at the home of Wm. Shipp. I didn't check all dates, but the court met twice a year and probably met more than one time at Shipp's.

It appears that Smith used Vol. 1, Cavaliers and Pioneers by Nell Marion Nugent, the "famous" book that claims John Coffey (who we know as Coffin/Scoffin) came to Virginia in what year...1626 or so?! Smith cites p48 of that vol. to report that Mrs. Shipp-Julian left a will in 1649 in which she names a daughter, Mary Julian, born 1627. Smith writes that this Mary Julian married John Coffey of Ireland for which Smith apparently does not offer a source. I don't have a copy of the Nugent book.

It may be that Mrs. Shipp-Julian had a daughter named Mary Shipp who married another Julian, but the widow Shipp probably did not have a child by William Julian.

Smith claims that Nicholas Julian and Margaret Waterman were parents of William Julian and cites Boyd's Marriage Index. But, this source is not - as far as I can determine - proof that they were also William's parents. I don't have a copy of the index.

It also appears that at least 13 men by the name of William Julian arrived in Virginia between 1608 and 1626. In 1624 however, there was only one in the census of Elizabeth City County, Virginia Pioneer Twp. Smith picked one who arrived in 1609, born c1566 as "the" William Julian who sired a daughter Mary and that she married a John Coffey.

The Virginia Magazine of History & Biography, Vol. 5, p455 and the William and Mary Historical Quarterly, Vol. 11, p44 are mainly my sources.

I checked the Boone Society webpage for info on Smith but found nothing.

Elizabeth "Betty" Coffey Boone died in 1775, having second child, which did not survive. Note that White says she died the same year Daniel was born, so there is a little problem with the math or facts.

Jesse Boone 2/m. Sarah McMahan. Daniel was the oldest and a half brother to the rest of the children by Sarah, according to Jim White.

I am now discovering some of Jim White's mistakes . . . (?)

P. 156: Jim White says Martha "Patsey" Coffey, b. 1761, wife of Mastin Durham, was daughter of Thomas Coffey b. 1741, and first wife, Elizabeth Smith!!

Hi Bonnie,

Regarding Jim White's account of the ancestry of Martha "Patsey" Coffey Durham, mistakenly given to Thomas Coffey, he used only census records for Mastin Durham and stated "Family" as a source!

Regarding EDWARD COFFEY JR., and GRACE CLEVELAND, I will start with White's comments on EDWARD COFFEY SR. and ANN POWELL:

White gives Edward Sr's father as John Coffey, born in 1611, in Dublin, Dublin, Leinster, Ireland, and died in 1674 in Essex Co., VA, at age 63, married Mary Julian, daughter of William.

P. 143: EDWARD COFFEY SR. b. 1658, Elizabeth City Co., VA, died Nov. 1716, Essex Co., VA, age 58, buried St. Anne's Parish, Essex Co., VA. (Ed Sr.'s will is included).

"Noted events in his life were:

Information: 1658, Elizabeth City County, Virginia. Descendants of this man have totally ignored his eldest son and heir apparent, EDWARD COFFEY JR., who was one full year older than his brother JOHN who married JANE GRAVES. Dates of birth of his two sons recorded St. Anne's Parish in Essex Co., VA."

P. 144: "Children from this marriage were:

EDWARD COFFEY JR. was born in Jul 1699 in Essex Co., VA, was christened in St. Anne's Parish, Essex Co., VA, and died in 1758 in Caroline Co., VA, at age 59. P. 145: Edward married GRACE CLEVELAND (d. 1784).

P. 147: "EDWARD COFFEY JR. (Edward sr. 3, Mary Julian 2, William 1) (repeats info above).

Noted events in his life were: Information 1699, Essex Co., VA. We are sure Edward and Grace had several daughters, but we could not prove them. We believe we enumerated all of his sons. In addition to being a planter, Edward was also a merchant and employed several persons as weavers, embroiderers, coopers and carpenters. Edward died intestate (intestate).

(When White refers to "we," I believe he refers to Dorthy Mack, archivist for the Boone Society, who was supposed to help supply material and proofread. This book is loaded with typos.)

"Edward married GRACE CLEVELAND, daughter of ALEXANDER CLEVELAND and MARY THOMAS. Grace was born in 1716 in Essex Co., VA and died in 1784 in Camden District, SC at age 68."

Noted events in her life were:

Information: 1716, Essex Co., VA. Whenever Edward Coffey died, Grace never remarried. Instead she and her children ran the plantation then in Caroline

County until her older sons were of age, she then left the plantation in the hands of her eldest son James, loaded up her other sons and landed at Charleston, SC. There, she is always referenced as Mrs. Coffee. We never proved a given name on any document in South Carolina for her. We never proved an Estate record there for any of this Coffey family. We know nothing about children of her sons except James, but they were numerous as the sheer number of records in South Carolina attests. Several cousins of other Coffey/Coffee families, descendants of the North Carolina branch landed in South Carolina fifteen or so years after Grace and her sons. This branch of the Coffey/Coffee tended to use the Coffee spelling variant."

South Carolina Land Grant: 15 Dec 1767, Craven Co., SC.

Children (b. In Essex, d. SC) from this marriage were:

JAMES (1733-bef. 1790 Camden, m. JANE ANDERSON, Henry (1736-1788 Camden), William (1736-bef. 1790 Granville), Cleveland (b.1740 Essex, VA), Joel (1741-bef. Mar 4, 1786 Chester), Jesse (1749-aft. 1800 Pendleton Dist.), Isaac (1751-bef. 1776 Camden), and Benjamin (1754-1778 Camden)

Child of James Coffey and Jane Anderson: Elizabeth Coffey (Jesse) Boone.

I can send info on James Coffey and Jane Anderson later if wanted.

Janet

Janet,

Does this guy offer any proof of what he has on the Coffey family?? We had pretty well disproved anything of a John Coffey being the father of Edward Coffey. The original record was for a Coffin. One of the early indexers had mis-read the record and we got stuck with him FOREVER!!

I wonder if this guy has just picked up the old mistakes and ran with them adding a little more on the go.

Now I am wondering about this Elizabeth Coffey. We really have little or nothing on Edward Coffey jr and Grace Cleveland.

I will be sure to keep this one until we know more.

Hi Bonnie and Jack,

Today I mentioned to Bonnie that I was compelled (and probably not smart) to purchase the expensive (and flawed) book, "Boone Family to America 1670-1720," Vol. II, recently written/published by Jim White in cooperation with the Boone Society (Dorothy Mack).

White says that Jesse Boone, son of Israel Boone (brother of famous Daniel) and Martha Farmer - 1/m ELIZABETH "Betty" COFFEY, daughter of JAMES COFFEY and JANE ANDERSON on Nov. 26, 1773, in Rowan Co., NC.

ELIZABETH "Betty" COFFEY b. 1754, in Essex Co., VA, d. 1775, in Burke Co., NC.

White's Marriage note: Nov. 26, 1773 in the home of Baptist Minister, Rev. Jesse Buckner, Rowan County North Carolina. Witnesses: James & Rebecca Boone, JANE COFFEY, mother of the bride, and her brother, BENJAMIN COFFEY witness and bond.

White says Elizabeth died in child birth of second child, who also died. (White does not tell what happened to first child.)

Jesse Boone 2/m Sarah McMahan.

What I have shared here is copyrighted from White's book. Let me know if you prefer I not share from this book in the future.

I would appreciate your knowledge/opinion as to accuracy of the COFFEY side.

Thank you!
