COUSINS LOSE MAJOR RESEARCHERS

In the last quarter we have lost Marvin D. Coffey, Eugene Brewington and Ella Carpenter, all long time Coffey researchers.

Marvin's book, James B. Coffey is the major research tool to many who assist new researchers and even for our own lines. I'm sure no one would dispute the fact that it is one of the really good genealogy books written.

We were fortunate to have had Marvin and Wanda Coffey at the April Coffey Convention. He had a stroke only a few weeks after getting home from the trip. Losing him is a real loss, not only as a genealogist but as a friend. Marvin was always willing to help anyone. I relied on his good judgement when faced with disputed matters on the newspaper. He always came through with reliable answers.

Gene Brewington also wrote Coffey/y books; Hugh Coffey & His Descendents and Peter Coffee & His Descendents. Gene also retyped, out of print Coffey/y books and made them available to researchers working these lines. This was a very valuable service. Gene was also one who was ready to help another researcher anytime that he could. He also hosted a Coffey Convention in Oklahoma City where we had the opportunity to meet his wife Willie.

Ella Carpenter was probably not known by as many of our researchers as the other two, but she was the first one to respond when I joined Coffey Cousins. She was doing Coffey research before most of us knew what it was. I always appreciated her help.

Your Cousin,
Bonnie

* Marguerite Jobes, says that we cut the "m" off of her email address. It should be; mimjy@webtv.net. She also says to tell everyone that she doesn't need to save her money for boots and a western hat, she already has them and is ready to go. We-ha!! Good for Marguerite.

PRESIDENTS MESSAGE

Dear Cousins,

When September gets here we always tend to think that summer is over - but we still have some hot weather to go in San Antonio. School is starting and we get into the school year mode. Even those of us who are retired are affected by this change going on.

Now we should be looking to the future - specifically the end of April 2002. A great plan and program has been made and it should be a real fun AND there will be a special opportunity to hear one of the very well known internationally acclaimed Genealogists speak to US. The next newsletter will be giving more details. When they come - get on the phone and make your reservations!!!!!!

Keep cool and enjoy the scenery and smell the roses.

Cousin Jeff

* Martin E. DeLille is researching his wife's Coffey line. We placed a query in the last issue, page 7 of CCC. They are looking for information on the family of Mason Coffee born about 1811 and married Martha Ferguson. Martin's wife is "Josephine Phipps DeLille" who descends from Chauncey Phipps, Clara (Coffey) Phipps, Isaac Coffey, and Mason Coffey. They are still searching for cousins from the families in the area and are putting more effort in searching further in the past. Martin and Josephine's address is 5445 N. Meadows Blvd., Columbus, OH 43229

* Dick Coffey says, "During a recent trip to research my family history I stopped at a library in Jamestown Ky. While there I found your address in a book called 'Coffey Cousins' Clearinghouse." Dick lives in northern Illinois and has info that leads him to believe that his family history starts in Northern Ky. or Fentress County Tenn. His great grandfather was named William Franklin Coffey. He was born in Fentress County TN on Oct. 25, 1849. Dick's great-great grandfather was named William Coffey and may have been nicknamed Speck or Speckled. He was born about 1817 in Fentress County Tenn. It is rumored that he was a full blooded Cherokee Indian but this may not be true. If you can help Dick, his email address is: dcoffey@ivnet.com His address is in the new cousins list.

CURRENTS IN THE STREAM

* Nancy Williams says that since Lloyd Bockstruck has agreed to be one of the guest speaker for the 2002 Coffey Cousins Convention in Dallas that it might be appropriate to tell about the web site for Lloyd Bockstruck's Saturday Column in the Texas Living Section of the Dallas Morning News. Nancy says that she was thinking that since Jo Langwell said Lloyd agreed to do a free 2 hr. seminar next April for the Coffey Cousins, people might be interested in starting to tap his brain now. Every week he reports on some unusual resource.

Anyone who pulls up his column on Saturday can read it free, email it or print it. However; anyone who waits until 12:01 a.m. Sunday, will have to pay $2 to get it up out of archives.

In his June 2nd column, he lists where to get what he calls,

"UNDOUBTEDLY THE MOST IMPORTANT GENEALOGICAL FINDING AID FOR THE UNITED STATES"

He is referring to a set of CDs prepared by the Mormons that had just come out. Nancy doesn't recall that strong an endorsement before.

Nancy says, "The person I talked to said that the Dallas County Genealogical Society has a 'LOCK-IN' at the library periodically. I wonder if the Coffey's would have any interest in being locked in the library at 9 or 10 p.m. the Thursday night before the CCC in April. All those books, computers, CDs and no one else to bother us...I'd love that but my husband would just shake his head and walk off."

* Another email from Nancy Williams worth taking note of.

Lloyd Bockstruck: 1880 census index
plugs holes 06/02/2001

By LLOYD BOCKSTRUCK
The Dallas Morning News

The best news coming out of the National Genealogical Society's Conference in Portland, Ore., this month was the release of the every-name index to the 1880 census of the United States. In 1907, the government published the 1790 census results of Connecticut, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and South Carolina. Now all census records from 1790 to 1880 are indexed. Because of the passage of the Social Security Act requiring proof of age of Americans who lacked birth certificates, the government indexed the 1880 census for all households in which at least one person was under the age of 11. Calculating that those individuals would be the ones whose ages would need to be verified, the government created an index with one card featuring households and another cross-referencing people living with someone other than their parents. There were many omissions from those records. The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints devoted years to creating an every-name index to the 1880 census for the entire country. The result is undoubtedly the most important genealogical finding aid for the United States. Without technological advances, access to the 50 million Americans on the 1880 census would not have been possible. I had a great-great-great-grandfather who immigrated from Bavaria in the early 1840s via the port of New Orleans and made his way to St. Louis. While he appeared in all of the city directories until the Civil War, he and his family are not on the 1850 census. He was in St. Louis in 1860 and in southern Illinois in 1870. By 1880 he had returned to St. Louis. His wife had died by the time of the census, and he did not appear on the 1880 index created by the federal government. On the computer, I was able to retrieve him. Unbeknownst to me, he had a new wife.

The Mormon index includes the names of each person in the household along with age, race, sex, relationship, occupation and place of nativity. The index consists of a set of compact discs. It sells for $49 plus $5 shipping and may be ordered from Family History Support, Family and Church History Department, 50 East North Temple St., Salt Lake City, UT 84140-3400, or by telephone at 1-800-346-6044. It is a bargain.

Lloyd Bockstruck is supervisor of the genealogy section of the J. Erik Jonson Central Library. Address questions to: Family Tree, Texas Living section, P.O. Box 655237, Dallas, TX 75265.

DEAD END ROADS

*Ellen Wagner wonders if the reason that Deborah Everitt left Jordan Coffey out as a child of Jane Coffey and Benjamin Fitzgerald (Issue 83, page 15, person #10), was that his parentage can't be verified. She wants to know if anyone has information to the parentage of John Jack Coffey, also of Nelson Co. VA. Ellen's email address is: RDECWagner@AOL.COM

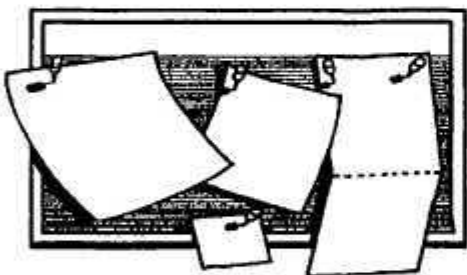

Ellen says that at their Edward Douglas Coffey family reunion in Lexington, VA over Memorial week end, the clerk on duty at the desk at the Days Inn turned out to be in the Coffey clan. She is Ann Crist Cox of the William Henry Coffey line. Her grandmother and Ellen's grandfather were first cousins. Ellen sent what she learned about Ann to John Taylor to add to his Nelson County Coffey information.

*Gayle Harvey descends from Fielding and Sarah Jane (Hughes) Coffey from Russell Co. KY. She says that Fielding married Nancy Coffey first and Sarah is his second wife. She would like to know who this Fielding's parents were. You can write to Gayle at 245 Johnny Harvey Rd., Breeding, KY 42715 or email: claysgg@duo-county.com

COL. JOHN T. COFFEE

Jerry Coffee, author of this article, has written about Col. John T. in prior issues. Col. John T. was an officer in the Confederate Army and was considered a hero by the Confederate sympathizers in Missouri. His military service has been covered in "The Missouri Historical Review" but I have not been able to secure permission to reprint the story. It has a copyright. Jerry is adding what happened after the war to a group of Southern officers, including Col. John T. They ended their exodus in Texas.

Col John T. Coffee (1818-1890) returned to Austin Texas from Brownsville, Texas and surrendered to Colonel George A. Custer. He then retired to Georgetown, Texas, which is 20 miles north of Austin and started a goat farm. He died in Georgetown on May 23, 1890 and is buried in the I.O.O. F Cemetery.

The command of the Confederate troops in Missouri was given to Colonel J. O. Shelby instead of Coffee after the Battle of Newtonia, Missouri. That was because Coffee got drunk after defeating the Union troops at Newtonia and was disciplined by General Hindman in Arkansas. After his court martial for drunkenness was dropped, Colonel Coffee resigned his commission and left for Brownsville, Texas to seek refuge in Mexico and continue the war from there.

Before the war, Coffee received a letter from President Lincoln asking him to raise a regiment of Union cavalry in S.W. Missouri. Coffee burned the letter and raised a regiment of Confederate cavalry. At the Battle of Newtonia, Coffee was in command of the 22nd Texas Cavalry from Hunt County Texas and Hawpes Battery of mountain cannon. There are many Civil War artifacts and documents at the Coffee home in Georgetown today. They include a letter from General J.E.B. Stuart approving procurement of horses and tack.

James G. Stevens (1823-1889) a former Hunt County judge in Texas, and Confederate officer was born in Alabama. Stevens entered the Confederate Army, Nov. 6, 1860 as part of the 22nd Texas Cavalry, which he help raise in Hunt County. He was elected major in January 1862 and was promoted to Colonel in command of the regiment later that year. He led the 22 nd Regiment at the Battle of Newtonia, Missouri in October 1862 under the command of Colonel John T. Coffee. After the battle, Colonel Coffee arrested Stevens for cowardice and his troops were dismounted and the horses were sent back to Texas. Although Stevens was soon returned to the command of his troops, he resigned in November, confessing that he was "entirely unable" to control his men. Although Coffee was in command of two cavalry regiments and a battery of artillery, he was retained at the rank of colonel. This may have led to his eventual resignation after General Hindman dropped the court-martial for drunkenness.

Breckinridge may have been charged with treason also. Colonel John T.

Coffee, like Breckinridge, also thought he would be hung for treason, so in 1865, he left Missouri for Brownsville, Texas. He was prepared to seek refuge and continue the war in Mexico under Maximillian. Also at the end of the war, General Joseph Shelby moved into Texas with a large number ex-Confederates, recruiting men along the way that were willing to support the war. He got as far as Mexico City and realized the Cause was hopeless and returned to Missouri. Later, Coffee and Shelby were advised by Federal authorities that no charges of treason or charges that they used Quantrell's guerrillas would be brought against them.

Joseph O. Shelby (1830-1897) The most be-loved man in Missouri, married a distant cousin also named Shelby. General Jo Shelby made his exodus to Mexico at the close of the Civil War. He made it all the way to Mexico City along with a number of Confederate officers and their staff. It is known in Texas as the "Shelby Expedition". The members of the expedition included two ex-governors of Texas and General Hindman of the Trans-Mississippi. At the Battle of Newtonia, Missouri, Shelby organized and commanded a company of cavalry under the command of Colonel John T. Coffee. Shelby, like Coffee, refused a commission in the Union Army. He, at his own expense, organized a company of Confederate cavalry. The Texas 34* Cavalry, 22nd Texas Cavalry, Joseph Bledsoe's Battery of Trezevant C. Hawpe's 21st Texas Cavalry under the command of existence. It is not known where copies of "The Quill" or the original book can be found. The Mo. Genealogical Society has a few photocopied pages.

(I will excerpt to the story about Collins Coffey. For more write to the Mo. Genealogical Society.)

In 1858 the author sold out on the North Fork of White river (AR) and moved into Howell County (MO) and located 11 miles southwest of West Plains,...was appointed constable of Benton Township and in the year 1860 was elected constable of Benton township, commenced reading law in the year 1858. In the year 1860 West Plains was said to be the best, neatest, prettiest town in South Missouri and contained about 200 inhabitants; had a neat frame court house in the center of the square, a first-class hewed log jail, had four first-class stores (for the county at that time) which kept continually on hand a general assortment of merchandise, had two saloons, tan yard and the county was out of debt, with money in the treasury; a county warrant then was good for it's face value in gold, and the county was prosperous in every respect. The people generally was fast friends and their chief interest was to develop the resources of the country and aid and help each other.

HOW A MOB WAS PREVENTED

In 1860, a man resided about three miles below West Plains by the name of Collins Coffey on the farm recently owned by Thomas Bolin and some men by the names of Griffiths and Boles - (some of them resided in West Plains and some of them resided in Thomasville and Oregon County) and they and Coffey had a falling out with each other and enmity between them became very great. So the Griffiths, who lived at West Plains, went down to Thomasville and they and the Boles with a few other friends decided that they would come up to Coffey's and mob him. They went to work and made for themselves a uniform, procured a bugle, fife and snare drum, procured a hack, made them a place for a chanie and aimed to come up in the night. Coffey owned considerable stock among which was a bull about four years old. The range then was luxuriant and there was a pond near the side of the road about one mile from Coffey's residence. They armed themselves, procured their musicians, got into their hack, drawn by two horses and started off to the scene of action with a bright light, with a flag flying and music playing. When they reached the place near where the male was lying, he rose to his feet, squared himself and fetched a keen bellow as though

(although he was an animal) he might have some information as to their mission. They paid no attention to the action of the bull and on their driving within about ten feet of him he made a desperate lunge forward: they supposed that he intended to gore the horses, but missed his aim, struck the hack near the coupling, broke the coupling pole and turned head over heels, and fell right between the horses. The horses became frightened, made a desperate lunge to extricate themselves, and the bull at the same time was scuffling to extricate himself. Both horses fell, the bull and horses were all piled into a heap, grunting and scuffling. The occupants of the hack were all piled out in a heap almost in an instant, and before they could extricate themselves and get onto their feet the bull had gotten up and was moving in the direction of the master's house bellowing every step as if to say, "I dare you to come any further." As soon as the posse got to their feet, having prepared, before they started, with plenty of whiskey, and being pretty well filled at the time of the occurrence, Boles got to his feet, drew his pistol, cocked it and swore he would whip any bull he ever say, especially a one-horned Coffey bull.

The hack was almost demolished and the occupants considerably bruised, both horses crippled and after consultation, they concluded that as the Coffey bull had proved so successful they had better abandon their trip and retreat "in good order" to Thomasville, leaving their horses hitched by the roadside and the shattered hack piled up at one side of the road.

The next morning they sent out a team and brought the horses and hack to Thomasville and they were wiser and perhaps better men, as they never again attempted to mob Coffey.

The strange feature about this matter is that the bull was never known to be cross before this occasion, when his master was to be mobbed.

Tom Veale, Dublin 9 Ireland -email: tomveale@eircom.net, says, "Having just finished indexing "Dungarvan Family Roots" by Noel Farrell, I extracted the mention of Coffey. Dungarvan is in Co. Waterford, Ireland." (We thank Tom for thinking about us. It's a nice addition to our Coffey records.)

COFFEY COUSINS CONVENTION 2002

April 26 and 27 DALLAS, TEXAS

Jo Langwell is still pinning down the fine details for our 2002 convention to be held in the Dallas, Texas area, but she has given me permission to let a few "kittens out of the bag." WATCH FOR THE RESERVATION SHEET IN THE DECEMBER ISSUE OF CCC

Get your duds packed for a trip to "SOUTHFORK" ranch where the show Dallas was filmed. We will hold our Annual Banquet here and you can even wear your boots and ten gallon hat if you please. The big decision will be whether you want to eat J.R.'s ribeye steak or chicken. The deep dish hot apple cobbler with homemade cinnamon ice cream is what has caught my eye!! Jo says that she will need to make a $700. Deposit by Feb 27, 2002, so she will need early reservations to cover this if we are to enjoy this site. We will also get to tour the working ranch as part of the package.

Jo is also working out the details for a bus trip to see the "Sixth Floor Museum" which is about the death of President John Kennedy. There is really much more to see in the area, but I will have to let Jo tell you about it later.

On the morning of the 27th, LLOYD BOCKSTRUCK of The Dallas Morning News, will speak to us about our genealogy research. He is one of the most sought after speaker on the subject of genealogy in the country. He does a column for the Dallas Morning News which I have printed an abstraction of to give you an idea of his work. You really don't want to miss hearing him speak and being able to ask questions. Bernie Coffey used to send me material about his programs and

We will be staying at the Country Inn and Sweets, in Addison, TX (a suburb of Dallas). The address is 4355 Beltway Drive, Addison, TX 75001. The phone number is (972)503-7800. YOU NEED TO TELL THEM YOU ARE WITH THE COFFEY COUSINS CONVENTION so you will get the special rate and we will get credit toward our meeting room. It sounds like it will be easy to get too.

They have complimentary continental "plus" breakfast, in room coffee makers, hair dryer, iron, refrigerator, microwave, swimming pool, and all the other stuff that you expect in any nice hotel.
